DILL DENOUNCES Hoover's Statement Condemning Garner's Public Works Program | GOLD TAKEN FROM

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 28. FOLLOWING is the text of President Hoover's statement condemning the Garner

plan for expenditures for public The urgent question today is the prompt balancing of the budget. When that is accom-plished I propose to support adequate measures for relief of distress and unemployment. In the meantime it is essential that there should be an understanding of the character of the draft bill made public yesterday (Thursday in the House of Representatives for this purpose. That draft bill supports some proposals we have already made in aid to unemployment through the use of the Recon-struction Finance Corporation to make loans for projects which have been in abeyance and which proposal makes no drain on the taxpayer. But in addition it proposes to expend about $900,000,000 for Federal public works. I believe the American peo ple will grasp the economic fact that such action would require appropriations to be made to the Federal departments, thus creating a deficit in the budget that could only be met with more taxes and more Federal bond issues. That makes balancing of the budget hope-

The country also understands that an unbalanced budget means the loss of confidence of our people and of other nations in the credit and stability of the Government and that the consequences are national demoralization and the loss of 10 times as many jobs as would be created by this program even if it could be physically put into action,

An examination of only one group of these proposals—that is, proposed authorizations for new postoffices-shows a list of about 2300 such buildings, at a total cost of about $150,000,-

The Postoffice Department informs me that the interest and upkeep of these buildings would amount to $14,000,000 per annum, whereas the upkeep and rent of buildings at present in use amount to less than $3,- 000,000. Many of the other groups in this bill will no more stand the light of lay than this

A total of over 3500 projects of various kinds are proposed in this bill, scattered into every quarter of the United States. Many of these projects have heretofore been discredited by Congress because of useless ex-travagance involved. Many were originally authorized as justified only in the long distant future.

I do not believe that 20 per cent could be brought to the stage of employment for a year. I am advised by the engineer that the amount of labor required to complete a group of would amount to only 100,000 men for one year, because they are in large degree mechanical Gigantic Pork Barrel.

This is not unemployment re lief. It is the most gigantic pork barrel ever proposed to the American Congress. It is an unexampled raid on the public Treasury.

Detailed lists of all these proj ects have been broadcast to every part of the country dur ing the past 24 hours, to the cities, towns, villages and sec tions who would receive a por tion of this pork barrel. It is apparently expected that the cupidity of these towns and sections will demand that their Congressmen and Senators vote for this bill or threaten to pe nalize them if they fail to join in this squandering of money. I just do not believe that suc lack of intelligence or cupidity exists amongst the people of our United States. If that shall prove true, then this is not the United States that had the intelligence to frame the Constitution of this republic, which fought the war of the Revolution, or the Civil War, or the World War, that it might be forged into the greatest nation of the world, the whole foundasense, honesty, character and idealism.

Our nation wer not founder on the pork barres, and it has not become great by political log-rolling.

Large Withdrawals Attributed to Currency Inflation Talk and Budget Prob-

by the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The United States has lost, roughly, $100,000,000 in monetary gold in the past 10 days-the largest outflow since last autumn, when the British lapse from the gold standard sent other European centra banks scampering for metal.

Bankers express the view there will be a considerable further outflow during the next few weeks Foreign central bank balances here are estimated at around $400,000,-000, and these banks appear determined to take their funds home. International bankers say there has been no important movement by the public to transfer funds abroad. As for the removal foreign central bank balances here, some bankers say the sooner the Pressure Against Dollar.

It is felt in several quarters that the legislative snarl over balancing the budget, together with agitation in some quarters for currency inflation, may have been a factor in the pressure against the dollar in the foreign exchange markets, which has made the outflow of gold profitable.

But since the passage of the Glass-Steagall act, the supply of "free gold" in this country, or gold in excess of the amount required as currency backing, has been greatly increased, and is currently estimated at around $1,200,000,000. so some hundreds of millions can be readily spared. Bankers say it is doubtful whether a more rapid withdrawal of metal than that experienced over the past 10 days could be accomplished under current transpor conditions. Actual shipping of the metal is done almost wholly on the fastest liners, because of loss of interest while it is in transit. Costs, including insurance, have increased somewhat since last autumn, and insurance panies are loath to insure more than $15,000,000 on a single ship. Gold Stocks at 1929 Level.

The calling home of balances by foreign central banks is regarded as largely due to a desire to abandon what is known as the "gold exchange standard." This standard differs from a flat gold standard, in that it permits central banks to count balances of foreign gold cur-rencies as gold reserves. This in effect permits the double use of the metal. But the banks that had the naval air station, San Diego, large balances in London, as many did, suffered in the decline of sterling exchange coincident to the British lapse from gold last September, and since then the gold exchange standard has been distinctly less popular.

Curbing Motor Fatalities

Enforcement of traffic laws and unflagging prosecution of offenders is one important method of reducing auto's toll of death and injury; writer cites St. Louis statistics to show that killings decrease in time of energetic action, and increase in period of laxity; vigilant city officials can do much to stem annual fatality record.

Curtis Billings, Member Public Safety Division, National Safety Council, in the Atlantic Monthly.

HAT has the average city done to cope with the increasing auto death toll? Almost nothing; or, just as bad, the Traffic law enforcement gives the inefficient city administration an opportunity reveal itself at its worst. There is no type of bungling so pregnant with possibilities for an ever-mounting toll of death. To begin with, it is easy for any city to let matters slide and go along with traffic regulations which were enacted at a time when the fastest-moving vehicle on the streets was a runaway team. As a result, police in hundreds of cities are expected to enforce utterly unenforceable ordinances.

But the American city can and does commit other blunders in enforcement just as serious as those which flow from antiquated restrictions. More frequently than not, a police department arrests traffic offenders only to find the courts unable to handle the od of cases. In a worse plight still is the city government shot through with favoritism. Nothing discredits the work of the police more quickly and more thoroughly than ticket-fixing.
While anachronistic laws, inadequate courts and outright graft characterize municipal government in all its departments, the results of inefficiency in traffic control are more tragic than of inefficiency elsewhere. Indeed, the enforcement of law has a more direct and immediate bearing on accidents than engineering, and certainly enforcement is the most impelling method of

This has been proved in many cities and states. The record of St. Louis from 1925 to 1929 offers sufficient evidence that this is true. In 1925 the number of traffic arrests totaled 34,568, the convictions totaled 18,835 and the traffic fatalities 193. The next year, when arrests jumped to 53,762 and convictions to 26,370, fatalities fell to 174; and the good work was continued in 1927, when 59,196 arrests and 84,750 convictions hammered fatalities down to 147. But in 1928 laxity in the courts resulted in persons arrested, and the number of people killed by automobiles soomed to 215. The close relation of fatalities to arrests and convictions was further evidenced in 1929, when enforcement was tightened up again; 59,938 traffic-law violators were haled into court, where 39,397 were convicted, and the fatalities were reduced to 162.

It may be said with surety, even with con-servatism, that the laxity of 1928 cost the lives of at least 50 innocent men, women and children in this one city.

Is a city justified in spending money and training officers to cope with the problem? Inspector, Charles Greenwood of Toronto said last fall that no modern city exists whose traffic problem is not a more serious challenge than its crime problem. It is well known that more people are killed and injured by automobiles than die by homicide and suicide together. And yet the police officers assigned to traffic are usually a small, poorly trained fraction of the force. Four potent evils in enforcement—anachronistic ordinances, lack of uniformity in regulations and signs and signals, inadequate courts and ticket-fixing-can be entirely eliminated simply by the will of an honest city administration to eliminate The national conference on street and highway safety, called for the first time in 1924 by Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, drafted a model municipal traffic ordinance which provides up-to-date regulations plus nation-wide uniformity.

Splendid traffic courts and violations bureaus have been functioning for years in several cities which need only to be copied by others. And a strict auditing of arrest tickets, such as Minneapolis provides for, would make fixing of tickets easily detectable and traceable.

Information on these life-saving developments in traffic engineering and enforcement has not been withheld from any city. On the contrary, they have been given every kind of publicity possible. Mayors, chiefs of police, city engineers—the key men in traffic—have been approached through every feasible channel. Newspaper and magazine articles and tens of thousands of letters and circulars have reached them urging the acceptance of information on effective methods of handling modern traffic.

Some of these officials have taken the information; a few have put it to use; but here is a remarkable fact: those guardians of the public's welfare who have shown interest have usually been forced to do so by local business, professional and industrial men who, joined together in a local safety If the organized safety movement in the United States has discovered anything in its two decades of unceasing work, it is this: Accidents don't just happen; they are caused; and these causes can be eliminated by engineering, enforcement and education. Unless city officials assume their responsibility for doing away with the causes of traffic accidents, which they as public ser-vants are paid to do, and stop bungling, accidents on our streets, with their trail of tragedy, will continue.

The steadily increasing annual toll of death from 12,542 in 1920 to 33.000 in 1931 is ample evidence that the problem of the man-killing automobile will not "work itself out" alone.

New York City's Mayors

By Editorial Research Reports.

N ONE of New York City's Mayors within the last 60 years has risen to higher political office. In 1868, John T. Hoffman became Governor of New York State after serving as Mayor of New York City for two years. De Witt Clinton, who was Mayor of New York for three non-successive terms, was subsequently elected Governor of the State for two non-successive terms, from 1817 to 1822 and from 1824 to 1828. Edward Livingstone, Mayor from 1801 to 1803, was Secretary of State for two years and Ministry to Paris Minister to France for two years during President Jackson's administration.

Although the administrations of several Tammany Mayors of New York City have Mayor has been removed from office. Mayor A. Oakley Hall ("O. K. Haul") was indicted in 1872, but his trial resulted in disagreement. Of Hall's three colleagues on New York City's Board of Apportionment (the "Tweed Ring"), Boss Tweed went three time to jail, where he died; and Sweeney and Connolly avoided prosecution only by fleeing to Europe. There was no criminal prosecution of Fernando Wood, Mayor from 1855 to 1858 and from 1860 to 1862, and noted for his good looks and elegant garb s well as for the corruption of his regime.

Tammany officals removed from office in New York City have held positions second only to that of Mayor. In 1806, Benjamin Romaine, a grand sachem of Tammany Hall, was removed from the office of City Comptroller for fraud. In the following years, other Tammany officials of the city were dismissed on the same grounds.

In 1838, two high Tammany leaders holding Federal offices in the city fled to Europe to escape trial for peculation-Samuel liam M. Price, District Attorney for the outhern District of New York. In 1860, L. V. Fowler, Postmaster of the city, and grand sachem of Tammany Halt, was remo from office for theft of Government funds.

Gov. Charles E. Hughes of New York femoved from office Borough President Ahearn of Manhattan, in 1907, and Borough President Haffen of the Bronx in 1909, for corruption and incompetence. Borough President Bermel of Queens resigned after an investigation of his office. removed from office by Gov. Hughes pre-decessor, Gov. Higgins. In 1930, Maurics E. Connolly, formerly Borough President of Queens, went to fall for graft in connection with sewer contracts.

In the Ahearn case, many of the charges were concerned with irregularties in the Bureau of Public Buildings and Offices. The superintendent of the bureau, W. H. Walk-er, father of the present Mayor of New er, father of the present Mayor of New York City, was denounced by Gov. Hughes as a despoiler of the city. Tammany maintained that the re-election of Ahearn showed that the people indorsed his administration. Gov. Hughes, finding no reason to believe that the majority wished "to retain in office one who has failed to do his duty," raplied that "a majority, no matter duty," replied that "a majority, no matter now large, has no right to force an inefficient government upon a minerity, no matter how small."

In the cases of Ahearn and Haffen, Tam-many pursued its regular policy of standing by its accused leaders after they have been ublicly disgraced, retaining them in high ffice in the hall and often renominating em for public office.

TONIGHT

Midnight

At the stroke of 12 "FOrest" goes dial! tonight, 12,717 FOrest telephones will move their headquarters one block west from old "FOrest" to the new "FOrest-ROsedale" dial exchange.

Many FOrest subscribers will get new FOrest or new ROsedale telephone numbers with this change to dial service. These new numbers and many others, will appear in the new June directory, delivery of which will begin next week.

As a point of interest, many of the FOrest operators will be required at new "FOrest-ROsedale" to answer calls when subscribers dial "Operator", to handle suburban calls, render assistance, handle emergency calls, answer calls to numbers not in use, and give information on changed numbers. All of the remaining operators will be transferred to other St. Louis exchanges,

Please remember these things:

- Continue using the present FOrest numbers until you receive the new directory. Your calls will go through.
- Look up and use the new telephone numbers of friends in "FOrest" as soon as you get your new directory with the GREEN cover. You'll get faster connections.

Look Out! It'll Backfire!

An automobile worth $3000 is a handsome prize; but there is danger of it backfiring, when bestowed on the winner of an amateur golf event.

That much is evident from the reply of Rodman E. Griscom, chairman of the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association, to a question put by the editor of this column. The Oklahoma City Country Club's advertising posters announce that an automobile will be given to the winner of the trans-Mispionship which will be held next month at Oklahoma City.

W ELL, boys, we'll take part of it back. You won't need footrule when you go fishing in Missouri. According to the Game prohibition as to length of fish caught in this State concerns the SALE of fish. Those who catch game fish in Missouri for their own consumption are not pro-hibited from retaining the little fellows.

Many states have minimum length restrictions which provide for restoring all undersize fish to the river or lake. Missouri last year had such a restriction on trout, but it was removed under the existing law.

As Others See Us.

OPINION around the circuit tegrating the Cardinals is not all in accord with the view expressed by Rogers Hornsby recently that the Cardinals, the Giants and the Cubs are still the only teams to be considered as potential flag winners.

There is, for example, the opinion of "Rabbit" Maranville as told to an Eastern writer, this week. He seems to hear the world championship machine of 1931 creaking along in a discouraging manner. The "Rabbitt" is quoted as follows:

"Most of our team liked the Cardinals before the season started, but the Cards will never be up there unless they show something more than they did against us in the West. Frisch and Wilson don't look right and those two are most of the St. Louis ball club. The Cards are not busting any necks hustling but sometimes, the maid of honor and bridesmaid, where there is only Thompson, who has won plenty of fame of her own as a foreign newspaper correspondent, have developed a new method of rearing a child. It all came about because they didn't know what to do with Michael Lewis when he arrived. So they put him in a house of his own.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis live together in a very nice, sprawling white farmhouse at Barnard, Vermont. Twin Farms, they call it. Michael Lewis, who isn't quite 2 years old. lives on the same farm. But he has his own residence.

The parents only see the child when everybody is wearing special manners, so there isn't any friction. It seems to be an ideal arrangement. Dorothy Thompson, who goes off to Russia, Germany and other places every now and then in search of stories, advocates it for anyone.

Sinclair Lewis, the only American author who has ever won the Mobel prize, has novels to write. They take much of his time. Novelists need a quiet, undisturbed atmesphere.

Dorothy Thompson has writing to do, too. She is away part of the time. Only recently she sailed for Europe. Michael has nothing to do but

Connally Sees 'Covert' Move for Plan in Calling in Publishers and Lewis Denounces 'This Form of Bribery.'

HARRISON DEMANDS SHOWDOWN VOTE

Opposition, Getting Signatures, Claims Margin of Five Against General Levy, While Proponents See at Least a 'Toss-Up.

By CHARLES G. ROSS. r and exciting fight over the oposed 1.75 per cent genera waged in the Senate this afternoor nator Connally (Dem.), Texas arply assailed the President for use, and Senator Lewis (Dem.), nois, expanding the same theme.

gned or would sign a round robin ast 15 signatures were in prosnese figures are correct, there is clear majority against the Walsh mendment proposing the tax as a abstitute for various excise taxes

w in the bill. Toss-up, Declares Walsh.
On the other hand, Senator
Valsh (Dem.), Massachusetts, said the result was a toss-up, and Sen-ator Reed (Rep.). Pennsylvania, the outstanding advocate of the sales tax, still claimed victory for Senator Connally predicted the and would get the revenue still needed to balance the budget by dopting his amendment to restore income tax schedules of 1922. The normal taxes in the Connalamendment are 4 per cent on e first $4000 of income and 8 per cent on the balance, and the surtaxes run to 55 per cent on the amount of income over $1,000,000. The amendment has been rejected by the Senate, along with the Couzens proposal of surtaxes running up to 65 per cent, but Connally has moved reconsideration. "Secretly Urging Sales Tax."

The discussion during the afternoon centered mainly about the President's conference at the White House last Wednesday night with 38 invited newspaper editors and publishers. At this meeting, as already revealed, there was a dis-cussion of the sales tax, at the end of which, on a show of hands, 36 of the newspaper group voted for the sales tax.

"I firmly believe, from what I have heard and read of this conference." House is secretly and covertly urging the sales tax. The injection of the issue at this time, under the leadership of the White House, threatens great delay in the passage of the revenue bill.

"The Senator from Ohio (Fess).
who is close to the President, tells us he believes the President wants the sales tax. It is clear that the President called a group of publishers together to generate propasanda, to bring pressure to bear upon Congress. He brought up the sales tax. If he was against it, there would have been no occasion to bring it up, for the sales ax is not in the bill before Contax is not in the bill before Con-gress. If he brought it up, he must have brought it up to enlist the aid of the publishers in getting adopted. No other deduction is cossible from the facts.

Motive Behind the Move.
"I am convinced, with the Sen ator from Ohio, the chairman of the Republican National Commit-tee, that the President is for the sales tax, and I assert further that, when you scratch down beneath the surface, you find that the dom-inating motive of those who are for the sales tax is to get rid of the income tax. That for years has been their motive.

The Secretary of the Treasury.
